NUMB. 1868

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 27. 1741.

To RALPH FREEMAN, Esq;

SIR,

YOU have more than once observed in this Paper, that there cannot be a more useful as well as entertaining Employment, than examining Human Nature, and viewing the Minds as we do the Faces of Men, and comparing their Likenesses and Differences. One wonders that considering the same Features are in many Countenances, yet their Arrangement is various they have nothing Identical; but tho' there is often a Resemblance, yet is there commonly if not always a Distinction. It is the same Thing with Regard to Men's Dispositions, for these we frequently find concur in some, and yet differing widely in other Respects. The same Qualities shall have various Effects in several Persons. Two Men are equally good-natur'd, and yet the Good Nature of one shall be of another Sort from the Good Nature of the other. Courage differs exceedingly from Courage, and so, in like manner, do Vices. One Man's Passion is not like the Passion of that Man, more than the Humours of different Persons when in Liquor, or afflicted by any sudden Impression. This was first hit on to and happily discover'd by our Famous Poet, Ben Johnson, who in his Fox has exhibited every Species of Avarice with the greatest Delicacy, and without the least Confusion. Every one in the Play is covetous, yet no Two Persons are covetous in the same Way. Drawing these Characters thus exactly, shews the Depth of his Knowledge, and the Correctness of his Art. What Illustrious Ben did for the World, a wise Man may do for himself; that is, compose a Comedy, by collecting a proper Collection of Humours, and observing them with Attention.

The Cast of Mind which is peculiar to a Man, and is, as it were, his Character, is in part deriv'd from Nature, and has a strong Tincture from Education, and is sometimes affected by Accidents. That Tempers are received from Nature is plain from Experience; Children differ as much from each other before as after they have the Use of Reason. One is peevish, another passionate, a third gentle and good-natur'd, even in Infancy. Education is to Children as Cultivation is to Plants; it cannot indeed change the Seeds, but it gives quite a different Appearance to the Leaves and Fruit. An ill School-master, like a bad Gardener, will mar Nature while he pretends to mend it, and frequently exhausts her Strength by endeavouring to force her. Customs, derived at first from Accidents striking the Mind, strongly ripen by Degrees, and alter the Temper, or give its Qualities new Directions. These (to me at least) seem the Modes of Conception as to simple Dispositions of the Soul, which are very numerous. They form what one may well enough call the Alphabet of Minds; singly they stand for nothing, but taken as join'd in the Composition of human Minds they are, by intelligent Persons, easily read and understood. But these Kind of Discourses, Mr. Freeman, are best explain'd by Examples; an Instance flying at once what otherwise one could scarce inculcate in an Hour; as a Plan exhibits thro' the Eye a more distinct Notion of a Battle than the most accurate Relation, tho' read with ever so much Care and Attention.

Business calling me lately to a certain End of the Town, which I otherwise rarely frequent, I had an Opportunity of contemplating one of the oddest Characters that perhaps is to be met with in our Species. PATRICIO is not only an Alderman, but an Adept in Policy for all that, to the Wonder of some who are or might be above the Mob. The Person of our Orator is not very remarkable. He is high enough for a Marine, but would scarce make a Figure upon the Stage without Cork Heels, and his Action is pretty vehement. I am not well acquainted with his Extraction, but if I have any Penetration he has Three-eighths of French Blood in his Veins; tho' before he is so thorough an Engliſhman, that if he was ashamed of it he would let it out. His Gift of Speaking is derived from Nature; no Hand but hers could have formed a Spring so strong as to keep the Larum at least Going an Hour and Twenty-five Minutes; nay, some say they have heard him hold forth, I think it was in the Way of a Lecture at the College of Physicians, a compass of an Hour and Half; nor did he discover the least Weakness after it, but went into a Description of the Opera-House at the White Horse in the Evening, and continued proceeding with equal Vigour thro' the third Quarter of my Friend's Watch, when he unluckily fell fast asleep. However, he own'd that what he saw and heard was surprizing.

PATRICIO is indeed a Prodigy, for to him all Subjects are equal, and no Kind of Science is unknown. Politicks, however, are his Delight, and what he says on Physick is purely for Amusement, or to instruct the Doctors who are his constant Auditors. He discourses learnedly on the Revenue, and after displaying his Talent amply on this Subject, he is apt to conclude with wishing he might be allow'd to handle it in another Way. All in good time, Mr. Cocoa-Nut, no doubt you will be thought of. The Campaign in Finland he can trace you on his Hat, and laid a Wager t'other Day he would put his Finger on Willimſtrad (Wiſmerſtrand) on the first Opening of De L'Iſle's Atlas, where, alas, it is not to be found. Then in Corporation-Affairs, and the important Debates of a Common-H——, he tops Orator Gl——r himself; nay, has been allowed to chop better Words than he used in his Mouth, and to re-deliver his Harangue with a far superior Grace.

PATRICIO thinks it rather too late in Life to apply himself to Latin or French, which if he would he might be preferred, nay, perhaps, sent to display his Eloquence in Foreign Countries. There is indubitably something unaccountably pleasant in his Harangues, for People of all Ranks hear him with the same Pleasure. He is the Oracle of his own House all Day, and the Delight of another at Night. In short, PATRICIO vies with Clay's Musical Clock, for he runs with the same Regularity, and yet never wants winding up. His Wheels are in a perpetual Motion; and yet it was never known that by Half an Hour's Silence he shewed they were tired out.

Without question some of our mechanical Philosophers would account or seem to account for PATRICIO's Turn of Mind, if they applied themselves to a thorough Consideration of it, and had besides an Opportunity of acquainting themselves with his Constitution: For my own share, I pretend to no great Skill in these Matters, but having heard that Dr. Radcliffe once prescribed a certain Application of Ballads to a Patient of his who complained of a Singing in his Head, learnedly observing, that this would draw the Humour downwards, I have from thence taken a Hint of accounting for PATRICIO's Cacoethes loquendi. I am humbly of Opinion, that in the first place it was bred by much handling of News Papers in the Way of his Profession, which I take to be a dangerous thing, especially in some Constitutions. Then again, living in the midst of Rumours, Queries, flying Reports, and meeting often with a pestilential Air common in those Parts, call'd the Lie of the Day; this might have help'd things on a little. Add to this, the Steam of Coffee, which undoubtedly has by an occult Quality, a Power of inspiring Politicks, [or had till of late it is adulterated] and I think little of this Prodigy remains. It is always right to have Recourse to natural Explications, and not give into vulgar Notions; and therefore I hope my Attempt in this Kind will not be ill received. To say the truth, I know another Instance at this End of the Town, which seems to come up to it so fully as to put things out of all Dispute. I will mention the Case, because being new and unusual it may entertain the Reader.

PLUMBOSUS is a grand Politician and a wonderful Oeconomist. He can settle the Affairs of Europe, when he is so disposed, with the same Dexterity and Exactness with which he settles his own Accounts, and in this no Man living exceeds him in Circumspection. He never parts with a Gazette to his Customers before he has fixed every important Article in his Memory, that to Company he may discourse without Book. If Patricio stuns you with Intelligence, PLUMBOSUS exhausts your Lungs before he answers a common Question, and then it is by a Monosyllable, or a Shrugg. He is wise in the most trivial things he does, he makes a Mystery of his buying Chocolate, and has peculiar Favours done him in the Receipt of common News Papers. He is in the Secrets of all Families, and knows what passes in the Cabinets of Princes; he can divine who will be Emperor with the same Certainty that Patricio foretells who will be Lord Mayor. Ask him how he comes by all his Knowledge, he tells you gravely, he has it from the first Hands, if not from Princes themselves yet from their Secretaries at least. It is pleasant to observe the Ceremonies he uses in telling a Story, the Circumstances he introduces, the Hints he throws out; his Hems are significant, and his very Nods have their Meaning. Nay in his Silence he is a Statesman, and gives you Lectures in Politicks without speaking. He contradicts an Article while 'tis reading by a Bend of his Brow, and approves a Brother Politician's Remark by shutting deliberately his Eyes.

One would imagine that many People of Penetration should see through this Character, and discern the true Worth of the Man; but Experience shews the contrary, and that more Credit is paid to Mens Pretensions than to their Merits. PLUMBOSUS is by Nine in Ten who come about him esteem'd an Oracle, for no other Cause but because he assumes a Sort of dogmatick Air in delivering his Responses; so that by being a Coxcomb, he shuns being thought so; People who have twice his Intelligence seriously enquire News of him, and Men of three times his Sense set their Judgments by his, either because his Confidence is great, or their Modesty still greater. In the same Proportion they under-rate their Parts that he over-rates his own. Most of those who hear Patricio, grant that he's a Rattle whilst they listen to him, but amongst the Admirers of Plumbosus a Man hazards the Reputation of his own good Sense who questions his. What a World is this! Prating gives a Man the Vogue for Eloquence, and a stupid Arrogance passes for Solidity of Parts. PLUMBOSUS in his own Mind applauds his comprehensive Genius, and despises the Company he daily sees. Yet from their Chit-chat he drew his Science, and is indebted for what he really possesses to the Strength of his Memory. Principles he has none, but arguing on a Set of Notions current among his Auditors, he passes for a staunch Man as to things of which he has really no Conception; thus he is admired for Talents he has not, and valued for Qualities he never knew.

Here, Mr. Freeman, are two Characters alike in their essential or characteristick Qualities, both ignorant in reality, both vain of appearing otherwise, both easily detected, both generally speaking passing on Mankind, both deceiving themselves thro' a Habit of deceiving others, yet in as many Respects very widely different. PATRICIO affects to impose on People by the Volubility of his Tongue, and supposes that a Man who speaks much is to all Intents and Purposes a great Speaker. PLUMBOSUS takes a surer Method, and knowing Taciturnity is generally held a Mark of Wisdom, weighs his Syllables, and parts with his Words by Tale. Just as some Folks having a Desire to be thought rich pull out Handfuls and count their Money wherever they come; whereas others from the same Motive practise all the Arts of Frugality, and pretend to the Possession of Wealth by an affected Concealment. Whimsical Tempers! alike remov'd from the Laws of Nature and good Sense, produced by Weakness of Understanding, nourish'd by Pride and subsisted by the ill Taste of the World, which in nothing shews itself more than enduring such Impositions.

I am, Sir, your constant Reader,

TIM CHESS.

COUNTRY NEWS.

Northampton, Nov. 23. We hear from Spalding in Lincolnshire, that on Tuesday the 10th Instant, between Seven and Eight in the Evening, Mrs. Ives, a Widow Gentlewoman of that Place, about 64 Years of Age, was barbarously murder'd in her own House, her Skull being broke, and her Throat cut in three or four Places, besides a mortal Wound under her Ear: The House was robb'd of Money, Plate, Linnen, &c to a considerable Value. One Tyler, a Thatcher, is taken up for the said Murder, and he has confess'd that an infamous Woman of Spalding was concern'd with him, but the Circumstances not appearing clear against her, the Jury acquitted her; yet he continuing to aver she was concern'd with him, she was secur'd in Spalding Gaol, and he on Monday last sent to Lincoln Gaol.

Dr. ROBERT EATON'S Balsamick Styptick.

Truly prepared and sold at the Doctor's late Dwelling House, now Mr. Dutton's in Salisbury Court, Fleet-street.

THIS Medicine restrains in a most surprizing Manner, all internal as well as external Hemorrhages, i.e. it infallibly and quickly stops all dangerous Bleedings at the Nose or Gums, spitting or vomiting Blood, also the immoderate Flux of the Hemorrhoides or Menses, bloody Urine or Stools, bleeding of large Wounds, &c. If used according to the plain Directions given with it) as will appear by the Certificates of several Eminent Physicians, and in the large Account of this Medicine, written by the Doctor himself, and dedicated to the College of Physicians, a little before his Death.

It keeps good for many Years, at Sea or on Shoar, at Home or Abroad, i.e. in all Climates, therefore must be universally Useful.

The Doctor not only obtained his Majesty's Letters Patent for the sole Vending of this most Excellent Medicine; but also a Clause in a late Act of Parliament, exempting this Medicine from the Inspection of the Censors of the College of Physicians, to which all other Medicines are liable.

N. B. Some of the Apothecaries prepare a Styptick from Prescription of Helvetius, and use it in the Room of Eaton's; but whoever tries both, will soon be persuaded that Our's exceeds their's in all Respects, in a most eminent Degree.

IT is generally look'd upon as a ſuſpicious Circumſtance, when People who have evidently a Private Intereſt to ſerve in the Meaſures they purſue, vehemently diſclaim that, and impudently miſcall the Rage with which they ſeek to advantage themſelves, Zeal for the Publick Service.—— I never knew this Cant uſed in my Life but by Cheats and Conſpirators. Thoſe who were Enemies to the Government and the Adminiſtration in the Reign of Queen Anne, durſt not avow their Deſigns, but were pleas'd to ſtile themſelves Friends to the Church.— The South Sea Directors, if they were not honeſter, acted at leaſt with leſs Hypocriſy, and declared their Intentions pretty plainly, in that Health which conſtantly circulated amongſt them, To our Noble Selves.

Some Folks of the ſame Stamp, whoſe Deſigns are as bad as the firſt, and who have not the Courage to ſpeak out like the laſt, think to treat the People of England as ſome ſelect Veſtries have done great Pariſhes, put on an exterior Form of Piety to hide their Schemes for oppreſſing Power, and filling their Pockets.—— I have ſhown ſome of theſe print againſt Corruption, and laſt privately among themſelves of the Dependency in which they kept their Boroughs—— In Yorkſhire once I remember to have heard a Gentleman talk of purſuing a greater Man than himſelf, out of regard to the Nation; and Half an-Hour after vow the Deſtruction of another Man, only for ſetting up for the ſame Place againſt himſelf, as if the Inhabitants were his Negroes. Bleſſed Friends to Freedom truly! from whom others muſt bear the Rod who yet will bear nothing, tho' the Effect of Liberty.

Whoever conſiders the Conduct of the Friends to the Adminiſtration for theſe many Months paſt, muſt allow a cool and impartial, whereas other Men have been full of Malice and Fury; yet the former, it ſeems, are criminal for ſaying nothing, and theſe People are Saints for having all Reſpect to Decency as well as Regard to the Conſtitution.—— All who know any thing of their Characters muſt have a juſt Opinion of the Loyalty of their Wits, from the Perſonal Reflections they throw out on Princes; a high Opinion of their Publick Spirit, from their profeſſed Deſire of diſtreſſing the Government; and a vaſt Veneration for them in their Private Characters, by reflecting on the Piety, Virtue, and Morality, which is ſo conſpicuous in all their Behaviour. If they march with Drums and Banners diſplay'd, and ſend their Champions like Prize-fighters thro' the Town with the moſt provoking Marks of Diſtinction, we muſt not from thence imagine them Friends to Mobs and Fellows notorious for having diſtracted Heads and corrupted Hearts, appear as their Advocates upon all Occaſions, we are to believe them Saints in reſpect to the Cauſe; and if they ever ſo openly ſpread Principles of Sedition, we muſt confeſs them to be the King's beſt Subjects, on pain of being thought Proſtitutes ourſelves.

How happy is the Nation where every Man who has run out his Fortune in Purſuit of Pleaſure or Projects, may place his own ill Conduct to the Account of the Adminiſtration; where ſuch as are vex'd in their Private Affairs, may revenge the Humours of their Wives, the Careleſs of their Children, or the Squabbles of their Servants, upon thoſe who ought to rule them; and where every Man who is out of Order in Mind, Body, or Eſtate, may throw out all his Spleen in the bittereſt Execrations againſt ſuch as protect him, imploy all their Thoughts for the Service of the State, and labour all their Lives for the Good of the Publick.—— In ſuch a Nation there is Liberty to be ſure; for in the Reaſon of Things we muſt conceive that Kings are to be rallied, Men in Office chaſtized, and Senates call'd to Account by any Set of Men who pretend a Commiſſion from the People.—— But with one of theſe as with a debauch'd Parſon, he who his Character commands Reſpect from others, while he viſibly contemns it himſelf. Our modern Reformers of the State are frequently Reprobates themſelves, and tho' they treat Corruption with Diſdain, are known to be as much below it from their Stations and Conduct in Life, as they are ſuperior thereto in their Language. It is certainly pleaſant to hear a Fellow declaiming againſt Bribery, and boaſting of his Virtue, whoſe Intereſt was never worth a Shilling, and whoſe Word no Man would take for a Groat.

Before the Election, we were entertain'd with Sermons againſt Influence by thoſe who to promote their own Affairs practis'd it without Ceremony or Bluſhing. After the Elections were over, what Bouncing, what Bragging, and in the midſt of all this, what flat Contradictions to all they had been ſaying for Ages before; the Northern Members grew Heroes in Probity of a ſudden, and the World was call'd upon to atteſt the Virtue and Honour of Corniſh Boroughs. Then came their Liſts of Members, their Outcries againſt the War, and Libels on the Perſon of their P---ce.—— In the mean time Conferences were appointed in Town, Cabals held at all the Horſe-races in the Country, and every Village Aſſembly has been transform'd into a Council of Malecontents. In the mean time thoſe againſt whom they exclaim'd have minded the Buſineſs of the State, done their beſt, and are ready to give an Account of their Actions. But if you would know what an impartial Hearing they are to have, and in what Temper it is expected a certain great Aſſembly ſhould meet together, you may read it in very legible Characters in a certain Piece which ought to be intituled—— Inſtructions to a PROTESTANT PARLIAMENT by an IRISH PAPIST, who, if they do not take his ADVICE, will allow them neither COMMON HONESTY nor COMMON SENSE.

Concerning Gleets and Seminal Weakness of all Kinds.

ALL judicious Physicians and Surgeons allow, that nothing is more difficult to cure than Stubborn Gleets and Seminal Weaknesses, whether occasion'd by too severe purging for Venereal Injuries, violent Strains, Pollutio sui, or any other Cause whatever; and that they are dangerous in their Consequences, as well as difficult to cure, is as certain, since they exceedingly weaken the Generative Faculties, imfeeble the whole Nervous System, often bring on Hectick Heats, a Tabes Dorsalis, or Consumption of the Back, or an Atrophy or Nervous Consumption, which frequently terminate in Death itself.

All such, therefore, who have the Misfortune to be troubled with Old or Stubborn Gleets, Seminal Effusions, Involuntary Emissions, excessive Nocturnal Pollutions, or any Weakness of the Kidneys, Ureters, or Bladder, the Diabetis, or Incontinency of Urine, or Difficulty of holding their Water, would doubtless be glad to meet with a certain, safe, and speedy Cure, which they most assuredly may, by taking only a small Quantity of a transcendent BALSAMICK RESTRICTIVE ELECTUARY, now published for a general Good, after having for many Years been experienc'd never to fail perfectly curing the most Stubborn Gleets known, in a few Days, without Difficulty or Trouble; as also all other Weaknesses of the Back, Reins, Seminal Vessels, and Urinary Passages, whichit almost instantly cures, bringing to rights and restoring all those Parts and Passages to their natural Tone and pristine Vigour, in a very extraordinary Manner, and by taking a few Doses of it only.

This transcendent BALSAMICK RESTRICTIVE ELECTUARY is neither disagreeable to take, nor occasions the least Disorder, but is a wonderful Restorative in all Weakness and Decay of Constitution of any Kind, and particularly strengthens the Back, Reins, Seminal and Urinary Vessels to an immense Degree, insomuch that in any Debility of them, one Dose of it does more than ten of any other Remedy yet found out; and all Persons fatigu'd with Gleets or Seminal Weaknesses of any Sort, or Weaknesses of the Urinary Vessels, who take it, will in three Days time find it so very effectual, that they will be most agreeably surprised at it.

When a Medicine will infallibly accomplish such a safe, speedy and perfect Cure of such difficult Maladies, as Gleets and Seminal Weaknesses are, as this Great Remedy truly and directly will, even after all other Means and Medicines have been tried in vain; too much cannot be said in it, and all who ever took it for any of the above-mention'd Purposes have readily declared.

The Price is but 6 s. a Pot, altho' for its absolute Efficacy one Pot alone being sufficient in most Cases to accomplish a Cure, worth ten times as much, and by the Author's special Appointment, is to be had only at Mr. Radford's Toy-shop, at the Rose and Crown against St. Clement's Church-Yard in the Strand, ready sealed up, with a Book of Instructions, which whomsoever carefully reads will perfectly know, when the Gleet or Weakness he is afflicted with succeeds a Venereal Injury, whether all the Malignity of the Foul Disease is intirely eradicated or not.

Note, Ask only for a 6 s. Pot of Balsamick Electuary.

The HEMORRHOIDS or PILES,

A very troublesome Distemper, common to many Persons of both Sexes, and all Ages, and if neglected, or ill manag'd, often proving dangerous in the Consequences, and being seldom thoroughly cur'd without Relapse,

IS the Reason of this Publication, that all such Persons of either Sex, or any Age, may know where to have present Relief, and in a few Days a perfect Cure, let their Case be ever so bad, or the Piles of any Kind, viz. inward or outward, swell'd or bleeding, or of the very worst Sort that ever was known.

By a pleasant and delightful Chymical Powder, so certain in its Effects, that not one in five thousand that takes it miss of a Cure; and safe in Operation, that the most aged, or even young Infants, may take it with the greatest Safety; for it neither purges nor causes the least Disorder to the Patient, only operates gently by Urine, and keeps the Body cool and temperate; but it very powerfully rectifies both the Blood and Juices, takes off the Acridness thereof, which is the true Cause of this Distemper, and destroys it Root and Branch, as the many thousands that have taken it find to their unspeakable Comfort and Satisfaction.

It is sold for 3 s. 6 d. each Box, at Mr King's Picture-shop in the Poultry; and at Mr. Martin's, a Hosier's-shop, the Sign of the Duke of Cumberland, in Cranbourn-Alley near Leicester-Fields, and no where else in England.

LONDON: Printed for T. COOPER, at the Globe in Pater-Noster-Row.
